

Patient-Centered Outcomes Research for Employees (PCORE) Near West Side Anchor Institutions

PCORE Overview

Patient-centered outcomes research directly involves patients and their preferences in health research. PCORE in Milwaukee's Near West Side seeks to better understand how the perspective of employees can be used to inform workplace health and wellness. Through collaboration between stakeholders from the Near West Side Partners anchor institutions, PCORE aims to establish processes of meaningful employee involvement throughout every phase of research that seeks to improve the health and welfare of employees in the Near West Side.

Get Involved! We need employees to lend their voices to PCORE!

If you meet the following criteria we want to hear from you!

1. You have two or more chronic health conditions

Example conditions include (but are not limited to) high blood pressure, arthritis, diabetes, obesity, asthma, etc. This also includes if you are taking regularly prescribed medication to manage a condition.

2. You want to improve your health

3. You are willing to commit to take part in our PCORE panel

Meetings are held 5 times per year over 2 years

Meetings are hosted by different anchor partners in the Near West Side

What will you get from this experience? The opportunity to be on the ground floor of initiatives that can improve your health and quality of life and the health and quality of life for employees of the Near West Side!

*If you are interested in becoming involved with this project, please contact the PCORE Resource Officer, Marissa Lovell, at pcore@nearwestpartners.org
